

ABSTRACT

Novel blends of compounds comprising Ximenynic acid and glycerides were found that have a number of novel beneficial health effects such as effects on body weight, insulin resistance, Alzheimer disease, cognitive abilities, lipid levels, cancer and skin ageing, but also possess structural properties when applied in foods or food supplements.